1st Reading: Sir 35:12-14,16-18
 Psalm: Ps 34,2-3,17-19,23
 2nd Reading: 2 Tm 4:6-8,16-18
 Gospel: Lk 18:9-14

FROM OUR PASTOR

Dear Parishioners,

As we approach the liturgical celebrations of All Saints (Nov. 1) and All Souls (Nov. 2), I'd like us to meditate upon eternal life and the importance of our salvation.

In our secularized culture we can rightly wonder and inquire: Is modern man still waiting for this eternal life, or does he consider it part of a mythology now obsolete?

"In our time more than in the past, people are so absorbed by earthly things that at times they find it difficult to think about God as the protagonist of history and of our own existence. By its nature, however, human life reaches out for something greater which transcends it; the human yearning for justice, truth and full happiness is irrepressible. In the face of the enigma of death, the desire for and hope of meeting their loved ones again in Heaven is alive in many, just as there is a strong conviction that a Last Judgment will re-establish justice, and the expectation of a definitive encounter in which each person will be given his reward. For us as Christians, however, 'eternal life' does not merely mean a life that lasts forever but rather a new quality of existence, fully immersed in God's love, which frees us from evil and death and places us in never-ending communion with all our brothers and sisters who share in the same Love." (Benedict XVI, Angelus, November 1, 2006)

Thus, eternity can already be present at the heart of earthly and temporal life when the soul is united through grace with God, its ultimate foundation. Everything passes, God alone never changes. The Psalmist says: Though my flesh and my heart waste away, God is the rock of my heart and my portion forever (Ps 73[72]:26). All Christians, called to holiness, are men and women who live firmly anchored to this "Rock", their feet on the ground but their hearts already in Heaven, the final dwelling-place of friends of God.

Let us be persuaded that the truly wise are those who know how to love God and use the means indicated by Him to gain heaven. Happy the man to whom God has given the science of the saints, says the Bible (Wis 10:10.) Commenting on this passage, St. Augustine says: "Happy is the man who knows God, even though he is ignorant of other things." Those who know God and how to love him, stand not in need of any other knowledge. They are wiser than those who are masters of many sciences but know not how to love God.

Brother Egidius, a Franciscan, once said to St. Bonaventure (another Franciscan): "Happy you, Father Bonaventure, who are so learned, and who, by your learning, can become more holy than I can, who am a poor ignorant man." "Listen," replied the saint: "if an old woman knows how to love God better than I do, she is more learned and more holy than I am."

Let us always follow the advice of St. Paul, when he says: This, therefore, I say, brethren: the time is short: it remains that . . . they that use this world be as if they used it not; for the fashion of this world passes away (1 Cor. 7:29-31). The time is short, says the apostle. During the days of life that remain, let us endeavor to live like men who are wise, not according to the world, but according to God, by attending to the sanctification of our souls, and by adopting the means of salvation. Thus, we shall be truly wise, and shall be happy for time and eternity

Dear brothers and sisters, let us meditate on these realities with our souls turned towards our final and definitive destiny, which gives meaning to the circumstances of our daily lives. Let us enliven the joyous sentiment of the communion of Saints and allow ourselves to be drawn by them towards the goal of our existence: the face-to-face encounter with God. Let us pray that this may be the inheritance of all the faithful departed, not only our own loved ones but also of all souls, especially those most forgotten and most in need of Divine Mercy.

Today we also unite ourselves with Pope Francis celebrating the Day for Families and we pray for all the families of our parish so that they may grow in unity and in understanding of its particular mission in society and the Church by hearing the Word of God, by prayer and by a fraternal sharing of life. May the Virgin Mary, Queen of all the Saints, guide us to choose the path to "life everlasting" at every moment, as we say in the Creed; a world already inaugurated by the Resurrection of Christ, whose coming we can hasten with our sincere conversion and charitable deeds.

Fr. Gustavo Nieto, IVE

Perpetual Adoration Campaign 2013 Could You Not Watch One Hour With Me?

What is Eucharistic Adoration?

The Eucharist is the actual body, blood, soul and divinity of our Lord, Jesus Christ. By adoring the Eucharist we are reminded in a very tangible way of God's love for humanity and his promise to mankind: "Behold, I am with you always, until the end of the age." (Mt 28:20).

There are 168 hours in a week: it takes about 336 people to keep adoration going 24/7, and another 75 adorers as substitutes. That is a total of 411 people.

While perpetual adoration is forever, one's life changes over time. The Lord understands this. Don't be afraid to commit to adoration, even if you might have to change your commitment in the future.

YES, I will spend one hour each week (or more) with Jesus in the Most Blessed Sacrament.

"The Family: School of Social Virtues"

Dear Parishioners,

Our Church teaches that "the family is the first school of the social virtues that every society needs. It is particularly in the Christian family, enriched by the grace and office of the sacrament of Matrimony, that children should be taught from their early years to have a knowledge of God according to the faith received in Baptism, to worship Him, and to love their neighbor".

May God help each family in our community to grow in understanding of its particular mission in society and the Church by hearing the Word of God, by prayer and by a fraternal sharing of life.

In Jesus Our Lord and His Blessed Mother,

Helping pregnant mothers in crisis

Through the Gabriel Project, a new program of the Diocese of San Jose, pregnant mothers who feel alone or afraid are embraced as a daughter, sister, and friend. Volunteer mentors are trained by this Diocesan program to walk a mother through her pregnancy, and local community resources are enlisted to help empower the mother to care for her unborn baby. No mother should feel alone at such a critical time in her life. Through this personal contact and care, our Catholic community is able to bring the hope and love of Christ to any pregnant mother experiencing a crisis situation.

If the Gabriel Project speaks to your heart, come learn how you can be a part of this life affirming Diocesan program.
